

Who Gives Input?

Federal Highway Administration

The federal government provides financial assistance to the states to construct and improve the highway system. The Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) oversees the administration of federal dollars to the state projects. The FHWA will review and approve the environmental document. Without FHWA approval, federal funding cannot be used.

Resource Agencies

Resource agencies are the state and federal regulatory agencies such as the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the Environmental Protection Agency and the Idaho Division of Environmental Quality. They will help identify natural resource issues and assist ITD in assessing concerns and regulations related to the I-84 Orchard to Gowen project.

Local Government Agencies

Local government officials will be invited to participate in public meetings throughout the project. The project team will keep them informed about the progress of the project and gather input to help guide the project development.

General Public

The public will be invited to attend several informational meetings and workshops throughout the I-84 Orchard to Gowen project. The purpose of the meetings will be to address concerns, answer questions and gather input on the proposed improvements along the project corridor. The public will be notified of public meetings through mailings, media stories and advertisements.
